PERSONAL STATEMENT

With a keen interest in learning, studying and continually improving on human methods, through hard work, upholding of the truth, and living justice in charity, with regard to man's environment, to in the end leave of the earth a worthier abode for all men.

Although we all seek a better world for ourselves and those around us, sometimes we inadvertently make mistakes through beliefs, notions, or cultural backgrounds that can be a veil. I believe, and great men have rightly shown that a well exerted learning, with sincere methods improve not only the skill but the culture of a man. It is with this motive that I have engaged myself wholeheartedly in previous endeavours such as services to voluntary organizations, structured study programmes such as schools attended, and workplaces to build professional skills that would serve this goal. And it is also
